

What's Recyclable?

Summer is grilling, watermelon-dripping-down-your-arms, run-through-the-sprinklers season! It's also recycling season (because that's all year-round). Do you know what's recyclable at your summer barbecue?

Utensils

Some utensils are made from corn or potato and are compostable. Plastic utensils are not recyclable, so trash them after you're finished.

Paper Plates

Once you use that plate for your hot dog that's slathered in ketchup and mustard, toss it in the trash. It's not recyclable.

Plastic Cups

Sip the last of that refreshing cup of lemonade or soda pop, then toss your cup into the recycling cart. Remember, however, that foam cups are not recyclable.

Aluminum Cans

Did you know aluminum cans can be recycled over and over again? Be sure to keep the cycle going.

Glass Jars

Finished with that last crunchy dill pickle? If your city accepts glass, put the jar into the recycling cart. If not, toss it in the trash.

Plastic Bottles

Whether it's a soda bottle or an empty ketchup bottle, it's recyclable! Just ensure it's empty, clean and dry before you toss it into your recycling cart.

Visit RecyclingSimplified.com for more details about what to recycle.